Next-generation Corporate Training

DESIGN	We will design our training programs to enhance your existing ‘in house’ training packages. Our hierarchical qualifications take your team from entry to senior management. We will deliver you a comprehensive delivery plan based on your priorities and goals.
IMPLEMENT	Working closely with you we will meet your staff in groups to Ensure they have all of the information they need to get started and to be certain that learning is constructive, effective and dynamic
DELIVERY	We will use different methods to deliver our training programs to your staff. This will include individual and group sessions, on the job observations, and sitting in on your meetings and training sessions to evidence participation and skills development.
OUTCOME	Your staff members are undertaking a hierarchy of qualifications to develop their skills and career prospects. This will enhance their output, morale and loyalty to your organization. Each candidate will be awarded qualifications equivalent to 5 GCSE’s or 2 A’ levels plus a range of academic awards within their qualification.

Access all areas:
Training managers have 24/7 access to the online training platform. This means you can see exactly what is going on, can pull reports and monitor the progress of the workforce whenever you want.

Using the latest technology... We run our qualifications on-line, offering your staff instant access to resources and tutors...

Online:

We deliver our qualifications online, giving you and your team organized, rapid access to their portfolio from any internet ready computer, tablet or even a telephone.

This means that you and your staff have instant access to our assessors via the ‘in-mail’ function, can see which tasks have been set, submit work and access live feedback.

Your team can progress at their own pace which allows us to spot those who want to go under their own steam and those who want more support.

This also means that you can monitor your staff and the learning and development taking place. This gives you peace of mind and puts you in the driving seat. Which is vital to your faith in us.
